

LUCAS SEGOVIA

Originally from Buenos Aires, Argentina, Lucas started dancing at age 16. Three years later, he joined Ballet Argentino as a soloist under Julio Bocca's direction. By the end of the second season, he was promoted to Principal Dancer, being the only dancer, along with ballet star Manuel Legris, to perform a solo piece in Bocca's farewell performance for over 300,000 people and broadcasted on national TV.

Lucas has also been part of The Washington Ballet and Morphoses/The Wheeldon Company, directed by Christopher Wheeldon and with residency in both New York and London. He has, additionally, danced with The Joffrey Ballet for six seasons. Mr. Segovia has appeared in Drury Lane's production of West Side Story, starring as Bernardo. He is currently touring with the Broadway production of An American in Paris, directed and choreographed by Christopher Wheeldon.

Throughout his career, he has danced in more than 250 cities around the globe, performing in some of the most important venues for dance in the world and dancing pieces of some of the most relevant choreographers, such as Balanchine, Robbins, Alvin Ailey, Jiri Kylian, William Forsythe, Christopher Wheeldon, Wayne McGregor, Alexei Ramansky and Twyla Tharp, among many others.

Lucas has been awarded with the Premio Clarin, the most prestigious recognition for the Arts in Argentina, and was recently granted Permanent Resident Status as an Alien of Extraordinary Ability.
